MEET CRISTY BURNE

Former CERN editor-in-chief Cristy Burne is a scientist, award-winning author and professional communicator.

Cristy has worked with organisations all over the world to translate complex ideas into stories that people understand, connect with and remember.

Shifting the way leaders and teams feel.
Cristy brings experiential storytelling, simple science, joy, laughs and possibility.

THE EXPERIENCE

High energy, humour-powered keynotes that use science as a metaphor to help leaders and teams think differently.

Innovative problem solving
Reimagine what is possible

Using live demonstrations and a three-step framework, Cristy shows how to turn uncertainty into opportunity, even (and especially) when the future is unclear.

Storytelling for influence
Connection and communication

Even the best idea won't stick if it isn't shared well. With 18+ books published, Cristy dives into the craft of combining science and story, so people understand, remember and act.

More limits, more momentum
How limits create focus, energy and joy

Why do we burn out and procrastinate, and feel guilty about both? Cristy shows leaders and teams how they can use limits to build motivation and momentum, starting today.
